The need for instructions on setting up a DVD player is not really needed. If you Scart out only then you have a few options. Lets assume you have a widescreen TV with a Scart socket that is RGB enabled.I am using an in72. After 700 hours the dreaded red light started blinking. I switched it off and on again and the bulb blew, spewing out smoke and the like. I also received no warning that the blub was on its way out. Just wondering if this means the projector is likely to be broken or if a lamp ...???????? ???????, ? ??????? ??????? ????????? ????? ??????????. ???????: +359 888 50 50 45 ????????? ?? ? ???
