Market socialism is a type of economic system involving the public, cooperative or social ownership of the means of production in the framework of a market economy. Market socialism differs from non-market socialism in that the market mechanism is utilized for the allocation of capital goods and the means of production. Depending on the specific model of market socialism, profits generated by ... Socialism is a range of economic and social systems characterised by social ownership of the means of production and workers' self-management, as well as the political theories and movements associated with them. Social ownership can be public, collective or cooperative ownership, or citizen ownership of equity. There are many varieties of socialism and there is no single definition ... "Capitalism" and "socialism" both are 19th century ideological tags; they delude and ensnare, as do all ideologies. Zealots for "democratic capitalism" seem to have forgotten that it was Karl Marx who made the word "capitalism" a theoretical concept.<sup>40</sup> (Volume 20, No. 1) March, 2006.
