Obviously, the one main issue facing modern feminism is men, and, though we don't want to kill all or even any of them (nor start a hashtag implying that we might), there's no point hiding behind words like "sexism" or "patriarchy" when considering who's really in charge today, and who has the power to prevent us from climbing up there on the phallic plinth beside them. It has been suggested that Feminist movement be merged into this article. Proposed since January 2019 Modern liberalism in the United States is the dominant version of liberalism in the United States. Ideologically, all American parties are liberal and always have been. Essentially, they espouse classical liberalism—that is, a form of democratized Whig constitutionalism, plus the free market. The point of difference comes with the influence of social liberalism and combines ideas of civil ... The Claims of Freedom: Habermas' Deliberative Multiculturalism and the Right to Free Speech
